Catch-22 required that each censored letter bear the censoring officer's name. Most letters he didn't read at all. On those he didn't read at all he wrote his own name. On those he did read he wrote, 'Washington Irving'. When that grew monotonous he wrote, 'Irving Washington'. Censoring the envelopes had serious repercussions, produced a

Catch-22 (TV Mini-Series 2019-) - IMDb

May 17, 2019 · Summary: Catch-22 will always be a major challenge to film, its scope making it all but impossible to realise in a 90-minute movie. However, this is nearly 45 hours of TV which dragged in places because the pace was too slow and the story too tightly focused and limiting.

Catch-22 - Wikipedia

Catch-22 is a satirical war novel by American author Joseph Heller. He began writing it in 1953; the novel was first published in 1961. Often cited as one of the most significant novels of the twentieth century, it uses a distinctive non-chronological third-person omniscient narration, describing events from the points of view of different characters. The separate storylines are out of sequence so the timeline develops along with the plot.

Catch-22 and the Triumph of the Absurd

Catch-22 transcends the war-novel genre in that it is an illustration of the absurdity of war, and even more so of life itself. Even in how the novel is written, with its mindless repetition of words, labyrinthine chronology, and circular logic games, Catch-22 defies convention. Pivotal events such as ...

Heller's Catch-22 leads to such a vision of human responsibility issuing from indignation. As Robert Merrill puts it, "Yossarian deserts because he finally realizes there are greater horrors than physical pain and death" (50). In Heller's own estimate, those greater horrors are "the guilt and responsibility for never inter-
