When reviewing Carol Reed's postwar thrillers, it's usual to dismiss The Man Between (1953) as the poor relation of Odd Man Out (1947) and The Third Man (1949). Watching the newly released 2K restoration, however, a different impression emerges. The plot centres on a British woman's (Claire Bloom) trip to Berlin to visit her doctor brother (Geoffrey Toone) and his German wife (Hildegard ...

Buridan's ass is an illustration of a paradox in philosophy in the conception of free will. It refers to a hypothetical situation wherein a donkey that is equally hungry and thirsty is placed precisely midway between a stack of hay and a pail of water. Since the paradox assumes the ass will always go to whichever is closer, it dies of both hunger and thirst since it cannot make any rational ...

In 2 Thessalonians 2, the apostle Paul speaks of the rise of a "man of sin" who would sit in the "temple of God" showing himself to be like God, and exalting himself into the place of Christ Jesus on earth. This man of sin was already revealed hundreds of years ago during the great Protestant reformation. But because of blindness to the truth ...
